In line with expectations, Fed raised its policy rates by 25bps to 5.25%-5.50%-a 22 year high. Fed Chair left room open for further rate hikes and reiterated that the decision will be contingent on incoming data. However, rate cuts in CY23 were ruled out. High inflation, particularly on the services side, as well as tight labour market remain key risks for the Fed. Hopes of a 'soft landing' remain intact, with the economy showing strength. Separately, US new home sales declined for the first time in 3-months by 2.5% to 697,000 (est. 725,000) from 715,000 in May'23. Industrial profits in China declined at a slower pace of 16.8% in Jan-Jun'23, compared with 18.8% in Jan-May'23. Industrial profits have continued to decline in double-digits amidst a sharp moderation in domestic demand.

- Global markets ended mixed. Stocks in US traded in narrow range tracking Fed's policy decision and mixed earnings report from major companies. FTSE fell by 0.2% led by losses in mining stocks. Stocks in China and Hong Kong fell by 0.3% and 0.4% respectively. Sensex rose by 0.5% supported by gains in capital goods and real estate stocks. It is trading further higher today, in line with other Asian stocks.
