Russia-Ukraine conflict continued to dominate global markets and outweighed stronger than expected US jobs report and comments from Fed Chair. Global stocks fell and commodity prices surged higher as Russia captured Europe's largest nuclear plant in Ukraine. Oil prices have risen to US$ 128/bbl today, leading to a 3% decline in Sensex. INR too is likely to open lower and breach the 76/$ mark.

- Global indices ended lower weighed down by Russia-Ukraine conflict and surging oil prices. FTSE dropped the most by 3.5%, followed by Hang Seng which declined by 2.5%. Sensex too declined by 1.4%, led by global cues. Auto, metals and real estate sectors were the most hit. Sensex is trading lower today as well, in line with other Asian equities.

- Global currencies closed mixed. DXY rose by 0.2% as US payroll additions were higher than estimated in Feb'22. On the other hand, EUR fell sharply by 1.2% to its lowest since May'20 on the back of weaker than expected macro data (EU retails sales and Germany exports). INR depreciated by 0.3% to a 3-month low as oil prices inched up. Asian currencies are trading lower today.

- Global yields closed lower, with sharp decline seen in 10Y yields of US (11bps), UK and Germany (9bps each). Investors are not expecting aggressive rate hikes by major central banks (US Fed, BoE and ECB) this month. India's 10Y fell by 1bps to 6.81%, amidst speculations that there will be no additional borrowing by the government this year.
